A girl with a pen, living the life she writes and speaks about.

Monica Curtis — Mic — is a contemporary voice crafting truths women feel now and carry long after. Every word, every stage, every room she builds is for women.

She shows up where women need to be moved: keynotes that hit different, workshops that make women do the work, and events she curates from the ground up for women who are ready.

She walks in like someone you already know — curious, direct, and honest in a way that makes a room settle in and lean forward.

About

Let's Talk

- Sleeping Beauties — Successful. Capable. Comfortable. The most dangerous kind of asleep — she doesn't even realize it.
- We Are Complicit — We didn't lose our seat at the table. We gave it up, quietly, every day. That's not oppression — that's permission.
- The Math Ain't Mathing — The most educated generation of women in history, the least represented in the rooms that matter. So what are we going to do about it?
- Born to BADE — Be Anything. Do Everything. Not hustle, not grind — a birthright, and a mirror for the audience to remember it.

Also available: relatable, storytelling-driven sessions including The Lies We Tell, Daughters of Giants, and My Get to Life—built for audiences who want connection first.

She wakes up.
She speaks up.
She shows up —
*she changes the world.

Projects

A collective space where women speak up, share stories, and inspire action — SHEilluminates and HERstory among them. Built on the belief that we aren't meant to do this alone. Let's collaborate!
